MEMORIAM—This great rose approaches the ultimate of esthetic perfection. The precision with which the crisp, deep petals are lapped and folded, delicately curled at the tip, produces a flower form so elegant as to make each bloom seem the climactic achievement of a master craftsman. The perfect balance between form and color has not been matched in any other variety, sometimes warm pastel pink, sometimes white. The glowing luminescent quality of the flower makes it appear as though lighted from within. The plant is upright, moderately tall, finished with an abundance of dark green foliage, and prolific in bloom. PETERSON & DERING — 1963

Dear Customers and Friends:

With this 1963 edition of the complete Rose Guide and Catalog you are able to study and select from its contents your complete rose garden with skill and confidence. This Rose Guide has been produced for you with one thought in mind: to give you the facts about roses you need to know in order that you may make the proper selection of our roses for your own individual needs.

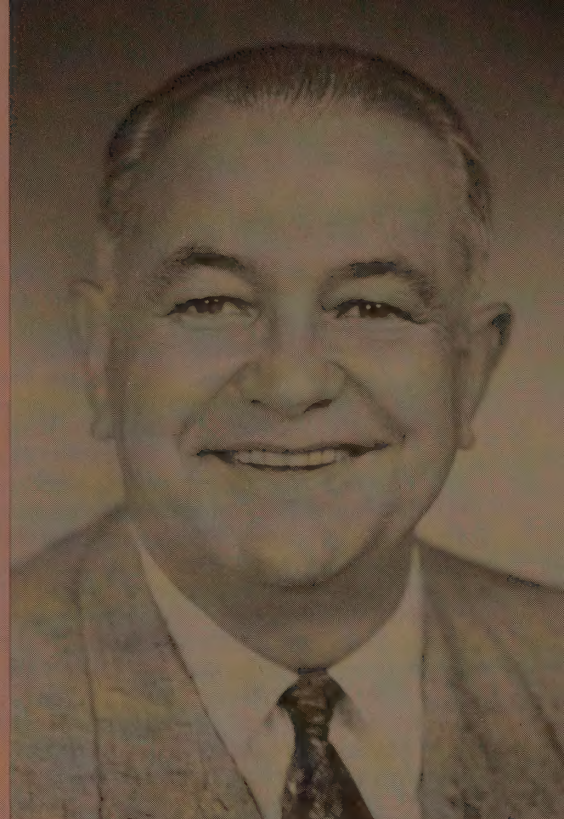

Peterson & Dering has been located in Scappoose since 1932; and this is our 39th year in the rose growing business. Our firm grows roses, acres and acres of roses, but we grow no other flowers, shrubs or trees. We specialize in roses and only roses. From the initial procedures (which include the testing, selecting and planting of only the finest Super Strains of Multiflora rootstock) through budding, careful topping (to provide properly formed and fully developed bushes), guarding against disease, maturity standardization, digging, grading, storage control and shipping, we are constantly striving to furnish you with the finest rose bushes obtainable anywhere. From the letters and testimonials received from our many customers it is obvious that our conscientious efforts have been successful.

Through our Research Division, under the leadership of G. J. Von Abrams, we are introducing new varieties which are certain to please the most discriminating fancier of new roses. We have made an effort to keep our variety descriptions factual and to the point, and have by-passed the heavy use of adjectives that makes every rose variety the "world's finest." I trust that as you read our Rose Guide and catalog you will agree with me, and I hope that we may serve as a guiding hand in helping you select from our pages the roses which will give you the happiness, joy and delight you will receive from watching your roses growing, developing, and blooming to your satisfaction. Remember, all P&D Roses are guaranteed to grow and bloom for you, so you are certain to receive the results I am talking about.

Sincerely yours, ,

E. P. Dering

HOW ROSES ARE GROWN AT PETERSON & DERING

The Peterson & Dering rose fields beside the mighty Columbia River are of rich and heavy river silt. Oregon's climate is ideal and the natural growing conditions produce bushes that are sturdy and well developed. We do not use artificial irrigation or heavy fertilizing programs as P&D Roses grow naturally in the rich river silt from the sub-irrigation of the Columbia River. In the spring when the two-year-old plants begin to put out shoots, they are topped heavily—each week for six to eight weeks we cut the young canes back so they are only one-half to one inch long. At maturity these roses are beautifully developed with strong durable canes. During the growing season the roses are sprayed regularly once a week. This spraying preserves the foliage right down to the base of the canes. When you plant your P&D Oregon grown roses, strong basal canes develop from right near the crown producing for you a full, handsome healthy bush.

After the autumn frosts have sufficiently matured the rose bushes in early October, we turn sheep, our "live defoliators," into the fields to eat the leaves and soft shoots from the plants. Safer than chemicals, better than beating the bushes, our sheep strip off the foliage and leave the plants bare for keeping in storage. Regular digging begins about November 1, however, there is a special digging October 15 for early orders. We must hear from you early for October shipments. Occasionally October rains delay the October 15 digging, but we strive to get these early orders out on time. All roses, after they are graded, are stored in our modern humidity controlled refrigeration unit at 33°-36° F. until they are ready to be shipped to our many customers throughout the United States.

Twelve years of breeding, developing and testing won our 1962 floribunda, GOLDEN SLIPPERS, the coveted All-America Rose Selections award. Peterson & Dering is the only nursery in the Northwest to win this, the highest award a rose can receive.

P&D RESEARCH AND TESTING

We are the only major rose firm in the Pacific Northwest engaged in hybridizing. Our hybridizing program was established in 1949 under the leadership of Gordon J. Von Abrams, biochemist, as Director of Research. Von Abrams has conducted extensive research in the physiology and biochemistry of roses, with emphasis on pigmentation, disease resistance, vigor and adaptation to cold. The program is continuous, with breeding schedules often extended through several generations. The magnificent result of one breeding schedule is the exquisite hybrid tea rose, Memoriam. In 1949—14 years ago—a series of white varieties were crossed with Peace. The seed-parent was selected from a cross of Blanche Mallerin x Peace, the pollen-parent from Peace x Frau Karl Druschki. From these preliminaries, we can proudly offer Memoriam, the most perfectly formed pink hybrid tea rose introduced in a decade. This particular cross has since proven to be a very important and interesting cross indeed. White Prince is a sister seedling of Memoriam and the 1963 hybrid tea introductions Legendary and Pink Spice are also sister seedlings. Each of these outstanding varieties have their own individual characteristics which differentiate them from each other. Each variety has been tested for several years in the many test gardens used by Peterson & Dering throughout the United States and Europe, and each variety that was selected to be introduced, was judged on its own outstanding merits.

Another delightful example is our brilliant orange-and-gold 1962 AARS winner, Golden Slippers. The only rose ever hybridized or introduced by a Pacific Northwest firm to win the coveted All-America Rose Selection Award. Beginning with a 1949 cross of Orange Triumph x Austrian Copper, in 1951 a seedling from this breeding was crossed with Pinocchio and in turn a seedling of that cross was used to pollenate Goldilocks. Golden Slippers emerged as an outstanding offspring. Ivory Triumph and Indian Gold are sister seedlings of Golden Slippers.

OUR GUARANTEE AND POLICY

We abide faithfully by the terms of our guarantee as reproduced in this catalog. Every effort has been made to portray and accurately describe the various roses. We are a member of The American Association of Nurserymen, Oregon Association of Nurserymen, The American Rose Society, and a charter member of All-America Rose Selections, Inc. We uphold the high standards these memberships require—and we are proud of our roses.

MEMBER

In addition to the exceptional roses we achieve through years of hybridizing, we watch carefully for unusual plants—sports and mutations—which sometimes occur during the process. The results of our planning and research brings you a luxurious choice of lovely new roses this year, bred with scientific skill and grown under ideal climatic conditions. You can look forward to offerings of superior new roses each year henceforth from Peterson & Dering.

ROSE SHOW COMPETITIONS

Pink Favorite, in rose show competition, has won more trophies and blue ribbons than we have time to count. As an example, the winning of the Grand Sweep Stakes at the spring Portland Rose Show. This is just an indication of the fine show characteristics and the ability of Pink Favorite to win coveted awards throughout the world. Honey Favorite, a sister seedling and an exclusive new P&D hybrid tea introduction, is fully expected to repeat its sister's award-winning performances.

P&D roses are tested in over 50 different rose test gardens throughout the United States, including those in Hartford, Connecticut; Tulsa, Oklahoma; Columbus, Ohio; and Portland, Oregon as well as in western Europe, St. Albans, England; Madrid, Rome; Bagatelle Gardens, Paris; Orleans, France; Geneva, Switzerland; Alsmire, Holland; and Nord Rose Trials in Denmark.

P&D SUPER-STRAINS OF MULTIFLORA UNDERSTOCKS

After over 20 years of continuous research and testing on understocks, we have selected several Super-Strains of Multiflora for propagation of our over one hundred rose varieties. Research studies have also been conducted at leading colleges, universities, other testing institutions and by private testers. The result: specific selected Super-Strains of Multiflora that produce well developed flexible fibrous root systems with many fine feeder roots—better for quick growth development—greater cold tolerance, more durability, ideal growth, better color and more blooms per bush as compared to roses budded to other types of understocks. Roses grown and sold by P&D are budded to these P&D Super-Strains of Multiflora.

NEW ROSES FOR 1963

This year's Rose Guide and Catalog contains colorful high-fidelity illustrations of twelve lovely new 1963 rose introductions from Peterson & Dering's Research Division and all of the other recent introductions except Golden Lace, Arpeggio and Bellina. These three are not shown in color this year because of lack of space. They are fine varieties and we are certain they will bring you much pleasure and enjoyment. Complete descriptions of these three are on pages 16 and 17.

You may wonder about the plant patent number or the symbols PPAF appearing by each variety name in the color section and in the variety descriptions. The numbers are the plant patent number and PPAF means Plant Patent Applied For.

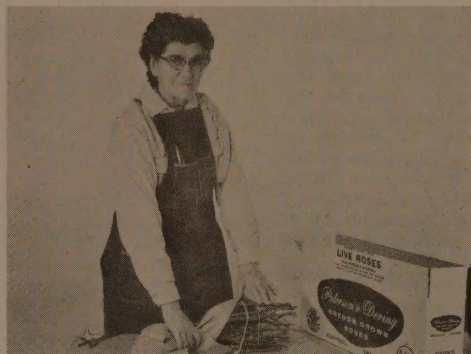

The rights to propagate these roses are owned by the Plant Patent Owner. There are 36 P&D Patented roses shown in color in this catalog, and they are identified in the reference section by P&D

WHERE THE P & D ROSES GROW

Scappoose is on the Columbia River Highway (lower U. S. 30) just 21 miles Northwest of Portland, Oregon, between the city and the sea. Here in the rich dike-lands of the broad river lie the rose fields of Peterson & Dering, with row on row of sturdy bushes growing strong and durable in the rich river silt.

Our offices are open from 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. Monday through Friday for customers that would like to stop in to order their roses personally and to pick up their rose orders.

The offices, greenhouses and warehouses are just off the highway near the railroad—easy to find if you are driving. Our rose fields are a panorama of bloom in July and August. That is the best time to see Oregon and visit our P&D rose fields.

PPAF. Even though it is a new introduction, this rose has already won a reputation as one of the most dependable and exciting red hybrid tea roses to appear in many years. All features, from the fine long-tapered bud to the open flower, seem to come in the class of luxury—magnificent form, perfect color, great size. The color is a true deep rose-red, without off-shading of orange or coral. The stems are of exceptional length and strength, ideal for bouquets. The plant is tall and sturdy, and will produce an abundance of show-quality blooms. A certificate of Merit was awarded Helene Schoen from the International Rose Garden at Rome, Italy. $5.00 each, 3 for $13.20

IMPERIAL QUEEN (Too new to be rated) Flower: double, 20-22 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

MERRY HEART (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium large, 40 petals. Ht. 4'

Pl. Pat. 1846. A rose of brilliant orange-scarlet in a shade distinctly different from other similar roses. The blooms are medium to large, borne both singly and in clusters. MOROCCO (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 25 to 35 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

PPAF. A rich-red hybrid tea rose, as fascinating as the distant places which its name brings to mind. A soft red, thick and velvety, deep veined, and delicately fragrant of exotic musk and spice. There is nothing delicate about the plant—it is full and tall and vigorous, well covered with large, heavy semi-glossy foliage. The flower is composed of about twenty-five to thirty-five petals, arranged in good symmetry and very attractive form. $2.75 each, 3 for $7.20

OREGON CENTENNIAL (*7.1) Flower: Large, 30 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

 Pl. Pat. 1914. A crimson-red rose, tall and vigorous in bush, glowing with luminescent blooms, fragrant in the summer nights—this was Oregon's centennial rose. Large blooms of 30 petals develop gracefully, becoming lightly cupped at maturity. Excellent continuity of bloom and quick and thorough cleaning are characteristics which make Oregon Centennial a constant source of satisfaction. Recommended as a dependable garden rose; performs especially well in hot weather. $2.75 each, 3 for $7.20

OLONAISE (Too new to be rated) Flower: Large, 40 to 50 petals. Ht. 5'-5½'

PPAF. A rose as stately and stimulating as the music for which it was named. The plant is vigorous and sturdy, of moderate height, well-covered by the luxurious glossy foliage. The bright red bud is obviously that of a big rose, heavy and full, ovoid in form. The flower is very large, of fine high-centered form, with over forty slightly ruffled petals. The brilliant intense red of the bloom is beautifully complimented by the bright and shining foliage. The blooms last very well as a cut flower. $3.00 each, 3 for $7.95

TROPICANA (Too new to be rated) Flower: Large, 30-40 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

Pl. Pat. 1969. The brilliant orange-red color of Tropicana is definitely a new color in roses, and the big, husky, disease-resistant plant will give you virtually everything that is most desirable in roses. The many magnificent, long-stemmed, 5-inch flowers which Tropicana produces throughout the season are perfect specimens for cutting. Widely grown in Europe under the name "Super Star," it is the product of one of Germany's most gifted hybridizers, Mathias Tantau. 1963 AARS Award Winner. $3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

P&D PPAF. A magnificent pink hybrid tea, named in appreciation of its traditional elegance. The long, slender silvery-pink bud is the essence of graceful beauty, and its form is unexcelled by any flower. The stems are long, and the plant is vigorous and taller than either Memoriam or Peace, to which varieties it is closely related. $3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

MEMORIAM (*7.5) Flower: Large double, 50-60 petals. Ht. 3'-4'

P&D PPAF. Memorable indeed for its classic perfection, this exquisite new pink rose has been widely acclaimed for its magnificent bloom. The long-pointed buds are large and perfect, shading from pink to cream, usually borne singly on strong straight stems, though occasionally a cluster of three or four buds may appear together. The buds unfold slowly and precisely into delightfully luminous pink flowers with 50-60 petals of remarkable substance. High-centered and perfectly symmetrical, the blooms are very large, 5"-6" across. The flower color is lovely and unique, varying from pure white in cool weather to dawn-pink in hot summer, but always the bloom glows with a luminescence as though lighted from within. Heavy, deep green leaves of medium size cover the upright sturdy bush of 3' to 4' in height, above average in resistance to disease. It has been awarded a Gold Certificate by the Portland International Rose Test Gardens and was awarded a Certificate of Merit from the International Garden at Rome, Italy. Peterson & Dering is proud indeed of this new rose, for Memoriam in bloom is an unforgettable pleasure. It is a continuing delight in the garden, long-lasting for arrangements and the exhibition bench. $3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

PINK FAVORITE (*8.2) Flower: Large, 21-28 petals. Ht. 3'-4'

P&D Pl. Pat. 1523. The enviable reputation of this great pink rose is firmly established for all time. The pure beauty of its form and color continue to win the awards of shows and exhibitions in almost every nation of the world in which roses are grown and loved. The true greatness of the variety is even more dramatically demonstrated by the way in which the rugged vigorous plant thrives and gives its abundance of bloom under the most adverse conditions. To many of its host of devoted fans, the most beloved characteristic of Pink Favorite is the unique foliage—large, gleaming, holly-like, and almost without question hailed as the most uniformly disease resistant of any rose in its class. It was awarded a Gold Certificate from the Portland International Rose Test Gardens. $3.00 each, 3 for $7.95

PINK SPICE (Too new to be rated) Flower: Large, 30 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

The abundant foliage is a soft light green, which contrasts nicely with the pastel pink of bud and open flower. Pink Spice is a sister seedling of Legendary, and closely related to Memoriam and to Peace. $3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

Urn-shaped buds of ruby red and silver open into full, high-centered blooms perfectly formed to display the colors of the heavy petals—deep phlox-pink on the upper surface, gleaming silvery-white below. The result is a great abundance of bloom. The flower is medium-large, full petaled and beautifully formed. The color is rich dark red. It is one of the few varieties which actually becomes larger and more beautiful in hot weather. This rose demonstrates the combination of the most cherished characteristics of its parent varieties—the robust floriferousness of Carrousel, and the beauty of form and color of Charles Mallerin. Gov. Mark Hatfield was awarded a Silver Certificate from the Portland International Rose Test Gardens and a Certificate of Merit from the International Gardens at Madrid, Spain.

GRANDIFLORAS

The Grandifloras constitute the most recently established class of roses. Varieties of this class should be very vigorous and tall, reaching 5 or 6 feet in height. Bloom should be produced in abundance, mostly in clusters. Individual flowers should be of good size (4 inches in diameter or larger) and of pleasing, graceful form. Each flower should be borne erectly on a long stem, preferably ten inches or more in length. The Grandiflora should serve as a prolific source of high quality flowers for long-stemmed bouquets, and should serve, at the same time, as an ideal background planting for the garden, tall and decorative. Many varieties being introduced into this class are not at all qualified. Some of them lack characteristic height and vigor. Some of them lack flower size and quality. Many of them bear flowers on short stems, being, in fact nothing more than tall floribundas.

The following list of Grandifloras has been carefully selected: Gov. Mark Hatfield, Paul Bunyan and the other P&D originals indicated by P&D are truly Grandifloras, and will fulfill a real and honest purpose in the garden.

JANTZEN GIRL (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, double,

35 petals. Ht. 4'-5'

P&D PPAF. Excellent form and color characterize the profuse and spectacular bloom of this very bright red grandiflora. The plant is very tall, of excellent grace and posture, always dressed in brilliant red. Jantzen Girl is a consistent and dependable performer, in the most elegant fashion.

$3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

PAUL BUNYAN (Too new to be rated) Flower: Large, 50-60 petals.

Ht. 6'

P&D PPAF. There seems to be some difference of opinion concerning the exact stature of the legendary lumberjack of the northwoods but no one has dared to suggest that he was anything less than enormous. And this rose is just about that tall, and almost as wide. The rugged plant bears an abundance of bloom of corresponding size, fine form and velvety deep-red color. The bud is unquestionably long, and it is properly pointed—but it is not slender, for it contains more than fifty thick, heavy petals. The petals spread very slowly, curling slightly at the point. The high-centered form is retained throughout development of the flower. This impressive bloom is borne on long heavy stems, ideal for cutting.

$3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

BAMBI (Too new to be rated) Flower: 3", 20 petals. Ht. 2'-3'
PPAF. A bright and dainty creature, with a beauty as gentle as that of a fawn—but with an inner ruggedness which will keep it in productive good health long after lesser varieties are forgotten. Its resistance to the rose "rust" disease is remarkable, and almost equal to that of its sister seedling, "Arpeggio." The plant is compact, neat, medium sized and very vigorous. The foliage is very bright and glossy. The individual flower has a lovely open-centered form, and is light apricot pink in color. Bambi blooms prolifically, in numerous medium-sized clusters. Bambi has been awarded a Silver Certificate by the Portland International Rose Test Gardens. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

Encore lives up to its name with repeat performances throughout the season. $2.25 each, 3 for $6.00

FLORIBUNDAS

The Floribundas are a well known and much used class of roses, best suited for mass planting, in groups of four or more, or for borders. The plants are generally easy to grow, sturdy, bushy, small to medium in size, ideally from 1½ to 3 feet in height. The Floribundas bloom continuously and prolifically, in large clusters. The individual flowers are typically smaller than those of the Hybrid Teas or Grandifloras and are borne on short stems. Varieties having well-formed flowers, as Golden Slippers, Acapulco or Bellina, are successfully used for arrangements and for corsages, but the principal use of the class is for garden decoration and contrast. They must therefore be always colorful and attractive, clean and free of disease, as exemplified by Bambi and Arpeggio.

PATENTS

GOLDEN LACE (Too new to be rated) Flower: 3" to 3½", 20 petals. Ht. 3'-3½'
PPAF. When Golden Lace becomes well established, it forms a graceful network of supple branches and shining foliage, heavily sequined with brilliant yellow flowers. As the unique plant pattern develops, it brings to mind a rich lacework of green and gold. The plant is vigorous and produces great quantities of bloom in large, graceful clusters. Small pointed buds open into well-formed high-centered flowers and their deep yellow color holds without fading to the time the petals drop. The fragrance is light and spicy. A remarkably pleasing effect can be achieved with this unique rose when used as a hedge, or against a fence or rock wall. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

INDIAN GOLD (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 40 petals. Ht. 2'-3'
PPAF. Buds of warm gold liberally touched with red open into yellow flowers flushed with soft pink at maturity. Blooms are borne freely in medium-sized rounded clusters; each gleaming blossom is high-centered and good-sized for a floribunda. Small, bright glossy foliage emerges from strong erect canes. Indian Gold makes a sunny border to please the eye and perfume the air with the strong, sweet fragrance of roses. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

NON-PATENTS

TRUMPET (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium double, 15-22 petals. Ht. 3'-4'
 A continuous abundance of bright yellow buds and medium yellow flowers, borne on a tall upright plant, against a background of shining green foliage. An excellent rose for landscaping and mass plantings. $1.75 each, 3 for $4.65

Orange or Yellow Blends or Multicolor

PATENTS

ACAPULCO (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium large, 30-40 petals.

P&D Ht. 2½'-3½'
PPAF. This breath-taking floribunda is one of the most colorful of roses. For most of the season, the well-formed fully-petaled flowers are colored in constantly changing tints of yellow, marked and flushed with pink. In cool weather, however, the contrast is even more beautiful—almost white, bordered with deep pink. These spectacular flowers are borne profusely in large clusters. The plant is medium sized, compact and sturdy. The foliage is deep glossy Green. $2.75 each, 3 for $7.20

AUTUMN HUES (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, 30-35 petals.

P&D Ht. 2½'-3'
PPAF. This exuberant floribunda is as brilliantly colorful as its name. Blends and sharp contrasts of orange, yellow, gold, scarlet, and even at times, dark red. Changing with time and weather, but always exciting. The flowers are medium sized, full-petaled, and borne abundantly in large clusters. The plant is bushy and of medium height. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

BELLINA (*7.6) Flower: Medium, 45 petals. Ht. 2'

P&D Pl. Pat. 1915. Beautiful Bellina is continuously dressed in peach-pink with yellow undertones, as clusters of buds open into perfectly formed flowers. The small buds are very attractive in both form and color and the bloom is full and high-centered. The plant is low and compact, especially adapted for low borders, around walks, driveways and other places that need a small growing, compact rose. Bellina is peach-pink and pretty all season. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

GOLDEN SLIPPERS (*7.7) Flower: Medium, 18-25 petals. Ht. 2'-2½'

P&D ALL-AMERICA AWARD WINNER, 1962.

PPAF. In a brilliant color break-through, Golden Slippers danced to the top of the floribunda class on a cloud of breathless orange. The perfectly formed, pointed buds swell to show a hint of red and a promise of gold, then open into lovely blooms of an orange so brilliant and unusual it is hard to believe this is a rose. The coloring is fluorescent orange and gold, holding brightly while the flower opens, then softening only slightly to a pastel orange surrounding a ring of gold. A planting of Golden Slippers is always beautiful and bright, as the petals drop cleanly all at one time, while new clusters of orange-red buds flame open to replace the spent blossoms. Many perfect buds are always ready to cut for bright arrangements. Ideal for landscaping, Golden Slippers is neat and compact, sturdy and disease-resistant. The bloom is profuse and continuous, gleaming fluorescent orange and gold against bright green foliage and new growth tipped with bronze. An All-America and Gold Certificate winner; also a top contender for high European awards. Recommended for a choice display where a low plant covered with brilliant blossoms will enhance the landscaping plan. $2.50 each, 3 for $6.60

Red or Pink Blends or Multicolor

ARPEGGIO (Too new to be rated) Flower: 3", 18-20 petals. Ht. 3'

P&D PPAF. Like the shimmering notes of a harp arpeggio, where each distinct note swells into a chord of vibrant melody, so does the rose Arpeggio unfold its blooms, one by one, into a cluster of living beauty. Each small brilliantly red bud appears perfectly suspended in the great cluster of which it is a part, yet each has its moment of glory as it opens into a light red flower with a flush of gold at the center. The well-formed plant is unusually sturdy, grows to 3 ft., and is continually crowned with great clusters of bloom. Abundant foliage is bright, glossy and easy to care for, being almost entirely immune to the rose rust disease. $2.25 each, 3 for $6.00

IVORY TRIUMPH (Too new to be rated) Flower: Medium, single,

P&D 12 petals. Ht. 3'

PILLARS

A pillar rose could probably be best described as a very long caned bush-rose that grows to a height of 8 feet or more. Canes are not pliable like those of the climbers but grow erect without support. Unlike the climbing habit that is a sport of the bush-form, the pillar habit is a definite characteristic of the pillar varieties. Pillars are usually trained against a post or pillar and are used along porches, on lamp posts, or mixed in with other roses or plants for a spectacular display of concentrated color.

PILLARS

APACHE (Too new to be rated) Flower: Very large, 50-60 petals.

P&D Ht. 6'-7'
PPAF. The pillar rose holds a distinct place in landscaping, as well as for general garden use. Apache is not one of the slender columnar pillars, but forms a framework which is rugged and broad, as well as tall. Distinct from the rampant climbers and ramblers, it requires neither fence nor trellis, but stands erect without support. It may be planted against walls or fences, or used as a high background planting in open areas. The blooming period extends from very early until the end of the season. The flower is of pleasing form, very large and full, sometimes with as many as sixty petals. The color is medium yellow, with an undertone of light orange to buff. The long-stemmed flower keeps well when cut, and has a good fragrance. Apache has a low-temperature tolerance slightly greater than the average climbing Hybrid-Tea, but will require winter protection in some areas. $3.50 each, 3 for $9.30

PAUL'S LEMON PILLAR (*8.2) Flower: Very large, full, 40 petals.

The bud is very pale lemon-yellow and the flower is very large, full, and very fragrant. The stem is long. $2.00 each, 3 for $5.25

SELECTING and PREPARING the ROSE BED

LOCATION: Select a spot with at least half a day of sun, preferably morning sun. Avoid trees and large shrubs, as their roots rob roses of moisture and nutrients.

DRAINAGE: Roses can't stand wet feet. If soil isn't well drained, dig the bed or planting holes 24" deep, spade bottom well and add 6" of coarse gravel.

SPACING: Roses can be spaced according to the size of your planting and the effect desired. Hybrid teas and floribundas may be planted from 16" to 24" apart. Grandifloras should be at least 30" apart, and climbers from 36" (as on fence) to 15 ft. (on posts).

PREPARING THE ROSE BED: Dig holes or bed to 18" deep; holes should be 16"-18" wide. Mix well-rotted cow or sheep manure in equal parts with peat moss and place about 6" of this mixture in the bottom of each hole. If your soil is mostly gravel, hard clay, or is worn out, remove it to a depth of 18" and replace with good top soil, then add peat and fertilizer as outlined above.

Note: Do not use fresh cow manure or chemical fertilizer in the holes or around the bushes during planting because it can burn or even kill your bushes.

FOR ROSE PLANTING and CULTURAL INFORMATION SEE NEXT PAGE

PLANTING BARE ROOT ROSES

Bare root rose bushes should be planted as soon as received. If planting is delayed, store the roses in a cool place, safe from heat and frost. Proceed to plant as follows:

1. Unwrap the rose just before planting. With sharp pruning shears, snip off any crushed or broken roots. Hold plant in one hand and rotate to plan shaping. Prune off twiggy branches and canes crossing center of plant. Trim so center is open to the sun. Leave two to five good canes, pruned to 6"-8" above the bud union (graft). Cut the canes at a 45° angle just above an outside bud eye.

2. Make a firm, cone-shaped mound at the bottom of the prepared hole. The mound should be high enough under the rose plant so that the bud union will be even or slightly below the ground level. Roots should point out and down; be sure they are not twisted or crowded.

3. Hold bush firmly upright with one hand and add a dry half-and-half mixture of soil and peat moss to the hole around the bush, tamping firmly with your feet. Alternately fill and tamp until the hole is filled within 2" of the top.

4. Now water thoroughly. To the 2" depression around your plant slowly add about 2-3 gallons (bucketful) of water and allow it to soak in.

THE SECRET OF BETTER ROSES: A little extra effort now will give you healthier, faster-growing bushes that will be the envy of the neighborhood. Here's our secret for greater success:

5. After watering, hill up moist soil, peat, or a mixture of the two around the rose bush, until canes are completely covered.

6. In about 10 days when the bud eyes begin to swell and push out (you can tell by peeking under the earth cover), carefully remove the soil from around the canes by hand. Spread it out at the base of the bush. If necessary, make a depression around the bud union so it is not covered during the growing season.

Fall Planting: Prune canes to 10" high. Leave the soil hilled up over them until spring, then uncover and prune canes to 6"-8" above the bud union.

ROSE CULTURE

FERTILIZE: Roses need regular feeding. Newly Planted Roses—Begin feeding in the spring when plants show 2"-3" of new growth. Established Roses—Apply well-rotted cow or sheep manure in early spring, usually about April 1. Continue at monthly intervals until fall.

WATER thoroughly once a week during dry season, in early morning or late evening. Use soil soaker, water bubbler, wand or hose, and water the earth, not the plants. Do not wet rose foliage—it encourages mildew and spreads disease. Do not water every day.

CULTIVATE around the bushes by working the earth every 10 days or so. We recommend a 5-pronged hoe to pulverize the soil without cutting feeder roots. Hoe top layer of soil to 2" deep.

MULCH will keep down weeds, hold moisture, cool the soil and prevent splash-back from water and rain. Spread peat, bark dust, corn cobs or other light material 2"-3" deep around rose bushes. No further cultivating is needed after mulching.

SPRAY or DUST at least once a week during the spring and summer for good foliage and healthy roses. Modern chemicals kill the bugs, keeps down disease and helps your bushes produce better blooms.

Be sure to cover underside of leaves where the disease starts. Choose a combination insecticide-fungicide for greatest protection and easy application.

CUTTING BLOOMS. Your roses will reward your care with blooms the first year. Cut only a few of the first buds and blooms. As the bushes grow bigger and stronger, a few taken here and there will do no harm. Cut with moderate stems at first, at a 45° angle just above a set of leaves. In the fall, take as many blooms as you wish. The second year there will be more spring blooms and you may cut more flowers. Always leave two sets of leaves on the stub. Keep bushes neat by snipping off spent flowers 1/2" above the first set of 5 leaves. This will encourage new growth and more blooms.

WINTER PROTECTION: After the first frosts, cut canes back to about 24" high to prevent wind whipping. Hill earth 8"-12" around base of bushes. When freezing is over in the spring, uncover, remove dead wood and old canes, open center of bush to the sun. Leave 3 to 5 canes, pruned 6"-10" high. Clean up the bed, fertilize, and watch your roses grow.

CLIMBERS BLOOM from old wood, so do not prune. Remove dead wood in early spring; undesirable canes may be removed after the first blooming.

GET THE MOST OUT OF ROSES

By Mrs. Nat Schoen

Mrs. Schoen has been an amateur rose grower and exhibitor for over 20 years. She has been awarded the highest honor of the American Rose Society, the Nicholson Bowl, for exhibition of roses at a national rose show. She is the first woman to become president of the American Rose Society in its 64 year history. For five years she edited and published a nationally distributed rose magazine, Northwest Rosarian.

For 15 years she has been a judge at the International Rose Test Gardens in Portland, Oregon, where new roses are evaluated to receive the Portland Gold and Silver medals.

Mrs. Schoen holds the American Rose Society Silver Honor Medal for her work in behalf of roses and rosarians in the Northwest. She is an honorary life member in no less than 11 rose societies including the American Rose Society.

Question: That title covers a lot of ground. Just what do you mean by getting the MOST out of roses?

Answer: Well, to begin with we need to debunk some of the fallacies about how roses may be used in the garden and bring our ideas up to the current practices of keen rose fans.

Q.: Where do you start?

A.: First, by taking the mystery out of the word "landscaping" and substitute the more proper term "beautifying." Too many gardeners have been frightened away from expressing their interests in roses in the garden because they have been told that "proper" landscape practice demands a special place set aside for roses. Since this is not possible with most home gardens they may settle for a less satisfying subject. A separate garden for roses may once have been necessary when roses bloomed but once a season and were less disease resistant than today. Now we know there are roses for a great variety of uses in the garden, both by themselves and in completing a lovely picture along with other plant material.

Q.: Can you illustrate this for me?

A.: Well, as an example, the use of a mass planting of low growing floribunda roses will lend wonderful interest to an otherwise awkward corner of the garden, providing a brilliant display for several months and welcome bouquets for cutting. The new AARS winner, Golden Slippers, is an ideal example of such a rose. Almost unique in its two-toned orange and gold coloring, the plant is symmetrical and lends itself well to such use. The very new Bambi also will prove popular for similar use in the garden. Its compact plant, glossy foliage and sweet apricot blooms will appeal to those growers who desire a less striking color than Golden Slippers, with delicacy. This type of rose is also well used in covering low banks and such problem spots where evergreens were once considered the only suitable subjects. A good floribunda which drops its petals when fading and has a well shaped plant with disease free foliage is one of the finest boons the home gardener has been given in the past decade. There are many of these now on the market and I predict their increased popularity when the gardening public really discovers their great versatility. The range of colors now extends to almost both extremes of the color charts, including the lavender shades.

Q.: Can you really mix roses with other flowers in the garden successfully?

A.: By all means. Especially with floribunda types. A bed of the china pink Bellina for instance interspersed with clumps of white phlox gives the garden a gala party look. Taller growing varieties of roses such as the lovely, brilliant Arpeggio may be faced with soft blue delphiniums in the rear of the bed.

Q.: It sounds as if you no longer regard the separate rose garden as very important. Is this true?

A.: There will always be rose gardens as long as we have roses. But the uses of roses have become so wide and varied that we just hear less about the so called standard use of roses. The ever popular hybrid tea rose which makes up the largest group of roses sold today are still used mainly in a planting entirely by themselves. This is partly due to long habit since many of these roses qualify equally well as flowering shrubs. They provide great quantities of bloom over a long season and with the disease resistance of many of the newer varieties they require little if any special care as was once true. Take the top favorite of the rose fans today, Pink Favorite. Here is a prime example of a rose which would serve many purposes. The foliage if not entirely immune to any disease is so close to it that we might consider it so. The plant is so beautifully proportioned that it makes an excellent shrub. The blooms when disbudded provide top quality exhibition roses. When grown naturally it is so free blooming as to look like a member of the floribunda family. Now that Honey Favorite is on the market we have these same fine qualities in a delightful apricot shade. If they ever get around to producing a red and a white exactly like Pink Favorite I can cease to look for newer varieties. The very new brilliant yellow hybrid tea, "Amarillo" looks like a wonderful addition to this type. The hybrid tea roses which are usually in evidence at the rose shows with trophies and ribbons are often best used in the garden in a spot set aside for them alone. This is not necessarily true of hybrid teas which are grown mainly for decoration and cutting. Roses such as Burnaby, that grand, pale cream queen of the rose garden is an excellent example of the first type. Memoriam, the delicate pink newcomer to the blue ribbon parade is another. The tall, stately, new red, Helene Schoen, also shows real promise as an exhibitor's delight as well as for cutting for the home. Extra long, strong stems are one of its outstanding characteristics. An exciting new member of the hybrid tea class is Legendary, an elegant plant bearing long, magnificent, pink buds which open to perfect specimens.

Most gardeners want some decorative hybrid tea roses to complete the picture. Roses which bloom freely on good strong stems and in abundance. Form is not so important here. Graceful habit and attractive color are. Pink Spice fulfills these requirements and gives a bonus of rich fragrance.

Q.: Where do the Grandifloras fit in today's garden?

A.: This vigorous growing class has a very real place in providing special beauty in the garden. Where backgrounds of evergreens are used, either conifers or broad leaved, these giants of the rose world have a way of accenting the rich green without appearing to be dwarfed. Governor Hatfield, the award winning red Grandiflora, is an excellent subject to face up a grouping of tall evergreens. Depending upon the color desired, the gardener will find several grandifloras which will prove outstanding for such use.

Q.: I always thought rose growing was for the special hobbyist, not just flower lovers. Apparently you have other opinions?

A.: Not just opinions. It's a matter of keeping abreast of the times. More changes have occurred in roses in the past two decades than perhaps any other garden subject. The old rules and ideas must give way to the many improvements which now make the rose such a versatile plant and flower. There is now a rose for every garden. If the gardener first learns what he needs he is sure to find it.

ROSE SEED KITS

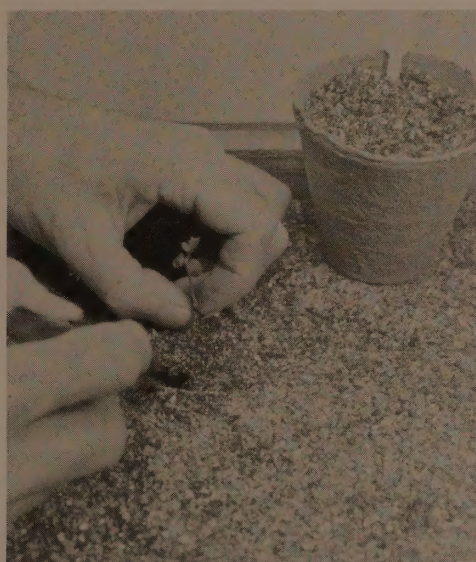

Do Your Own Experimenting

Now you, too, can experiment and watch with anticipation and excitement as brand new hybrid rose seedlings sprout, grow and bloom for the first time. The seeds in our rose kits are from unnamed crosses, mostly hybrid tea types. Each is a new, distinct, individual rose, never before grown anywhere. They are products of our hybridizing program, and there is even a remote possibility that among them is the embryo of a rose so unusual that it could be valuable commercially. However, the pleasure of having something new on this earth, and being the first to see new seedlings and rose blooms never seen before by anyone—these are the rewards of experimenting with rose kits.

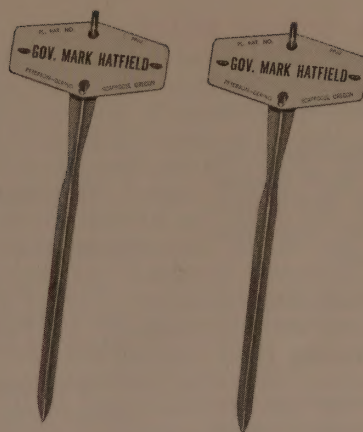

Tray above contains young seedlings just after germination. Hybrid rose seeds, center, and planting mix are part of Rose Seed Kit.

Each kit contains a 4" x 12" plastic tray, 12 Jiffy Pots of peat, 36 hybrid rose seeds in a plastic bag, vermiculite growing mix, and complete instructions for planting and care of your new seedlings. We cannot guarantee germination because we cannot control handling and growing conditions. Results from last year's seed kits showed good results where our directions were followed. For a new and different gardening experience, request a P&D ROSE SEED KIT with your order, and send one as a gift to a gardening friend.

"Thanks for such nice plants . . ."

"The performance of Memoriam this season makes me evaluate it as the best variety in the Municipal Rose Garden at this time.

"In more than fifty days of 100 degree weather Memoriam has continued to produce those beautiful, long lasting, large blooms. Here, the color seems to be intensified by the heat. The blooms during the cooler days in the spring were more white; those produced during the hot weather have deeper pink color."

James M. Rogers
Supt. of Parks
San Angelo, Texas

"Mr. John Guyette of Conojoharie, N.Y., a renowned rose grower and personal friend, has one of these Rose bushes growing in his garden. We visited his garden a week ago and he cut three of the blooms (of High Esteem) and gave them to me. I took them home and placed them in a vase in our living room. As I write this letter they are just as beautiful as when he cut them. As you open our kitchen door, the aroma from these three roses is fantastic. My husband and I both agree, it is the most fragrant rose that has ever graced our home."

Mrs. Miles Frasier, Jr.
Palatine Bridge, N.Y.

"I wanted to write all summer and tell you what gorgeous roses I have had all summer and now too. I had about given up on roses but I never saw such sturdy root system on these when they came. . . . I took small bouquets to different parties and everyone raved. I told them you have to get bushes from Oregon for roses like these—Pink Favorite, Burnaby, Paul Bunyan and Coronado. I planted them where I pass ten times a day going to our 4000 flock of chickens and I never miss stopping to admire their beauty."

Mrs. Norbert A. Gerdemann

"The undersigned is a 'Consulting Rosarian' of the Buckeye District of the American Rose Society and also an Accredited Judge of the A.R.S.

"Last Fall I ordered two roses, Paul Bunyan and Ebb Tide, from your firm and wish to advise that they were beyond expectation for size of plants and condition.

"This week I have unhilled them and find them in perfect condition although most of my original plants are almost down to the bud.

"Although I am not one of your testers, I thought you would appreciate knowing that I can recommend your firm to my many Rose friends."

Sincerely,

Edward J. Wickert
Cleveland Hghts. 21, Ohio

"I just want to drop you this short note to let you know the roses, which I had ordered, arrived. They are the best stock I have ever seen, and I am very happy with them. You can be assured that you will have a larger order from me next year.

“Again thanking you and with my kindest personal regards always, I am

Sincerely yours,"

ARRANGING ROSES

By Junna Lee Elliott

As an accomplished flower and avid rose enthusiast for many years, Mrs. Junna Lee Elliott speaks with authoritative experience. Although her role of wife and mother is paramount, Mrs. Elliott's many activities in rosaria have included: American Rose Society judge, consulting rosarian of the American Rose Society, lecturer-arranger at the National Rose Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, and Amateur Accredited Judge of flower shows of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, to name but a few. Her skill and artistic ability as a rose arranger was called upon to assist in the production of the beautiful and informative A.A.R.S. motion picture which is now being shown in many languages all over the world and is available by request from P&D. We are sure you will find Mrs. Elliott's article both interesting and helpful.

The Rose, Queen of flowers, provides us with unlimited possibilities in beautifying our homes. When artistically arranged in the right container and placed in the appropriate setting it is indeed a joy to behold.

To create a beautiful flower arrangement one must first understand the basic principles that apply to a good arrangement. The four main principles are Design, Scale, Balance and Harmony. Design is the plan or form of the arrangement and the harmonious relationship of all parts. There should be a harmony between the flowers and the containers in color, shape and texture, as well as design. Scale means the size relationship of all parts of an arrangement. For example, aspidistra foliage would look well combined with Pink Favorite, but would most certainly be out of proportion if used with dainty Golden Slippers. The setting must also be considered when planning design and scale. Balance can be either symmetric or asymmetric. The component parts in the arrangement must give the impression of being stable. In symmetrical balance both sides of the arrangement are practically the same to the visual eye. In an asymmetrical balance the two sides are different but they have equal weight, therefore giving the impression of good balance. Keep in mind that dark colors add weight and the lighter the color and smaller the bloom the lighter the weight. Balance is also achieved by the use of stands or mats under the arrangement, by the use of accessories, and texture of materials. To achieve harmony and unity the materials used and the container should be in harmony with one another. Each part must contribute something to the whole arrangement. Avoid using materials that are not suitable together. Colors should blend, not fight with one another. Harmony is also achieved by a repetition of lines.

Color is particularly significant in roses. Red roses such as Helene Schoen, Gov. Mark Hatfield, Polonnaise, Oregon Centennial and Jantzen Girl represent a sense of warmth and excitement. The light pastel colors such as Legendary, Pink Spice, Pastel and Ebb Tide extend the feeling of coolness and tranquility. Multi-colored blooms like the floribundas Golden Slippers, Acapulco and Autumn Hues suggest gayety and joy. Orange, red and pink roses look the best under artificial lights as they retain their vibrant color.

Rose arrangements are suitable for all occasions. Floribundas such as Bellina, Arpeggio and Indian Gold are ideal for informal small designs. Pale pink Memoriam arranged in crystal or silver, would be elegant for a formal table. The yellow rose Amarillo with blue delphiniums is outstanding. Try combining Golden Lace and Coronado with deep purple grapes for an effective luncheon or buffet table arrangement. Group colors for the best effect.

We must all keep in mind that an outstanding arrangement whether it be for home or show must have originality and distinction. These are the qualities that are expressed in your own good taste.

TREE ROSES FROM P&D

Gardeners everywhere are becoming increasingly aware of the outstanding beauty, significance, and attraction Tree Roses bring to them when used in the landscape planting. Delightful and exotic—as eye-catching garden centerpieces—when planted beside steps or walks—or in a row along the parking. Perfect for any landscape planting whether formal or casual, large or small.

The blooms produced on tree roses are superior to the blooms produced on regular bush roses in flower form, size, color, and abundance of bloom. Imagine such outstanding varieties as Memoriam, Pink Favorite, Burnaby and White Prince with tremendous exhibition blooms at eye level—continuously all summer long.

All P&D Tree Roses are grown Three years (a year longer than those offered by most other nurseries). This extra year produces more fully developed tops, stronger trunks, and better balanced root systems.

All P&D Tree Roses are budded at three feet to a Super-Strain Multiflora rootstock to produce more vigor, more cold tolerance (hardiness) and greater durability. They are easy to handle for winter protection and transplant easily. The Super-Strain of Multiflora trunk actually increases in diameter each year, thus assuring you of better results and longer tree rose life.

"Dear Sir:

"I just want to say that White Prince is the finest white I ever had, and I have all the whites I know of. It takes full sun, any amount of heavy rains, never turns brown on the edges and just stands up with one of the largest blooms I have ever seen, plant is very resistant to all rose problems, the very best of all I have ever grown. The same must be said of Memoriam, we cut blooms that stayed in the house in perfect form, for a week I never had a rose to hold up like that before indoors.

"The fragrance of High Esteem one could never forget. You know the rose is in the house the minute you enter its the greatest. . . .

"Well, I will close for by saying that your own introductions are all you claim them to be and then some."

Sincerely yours,

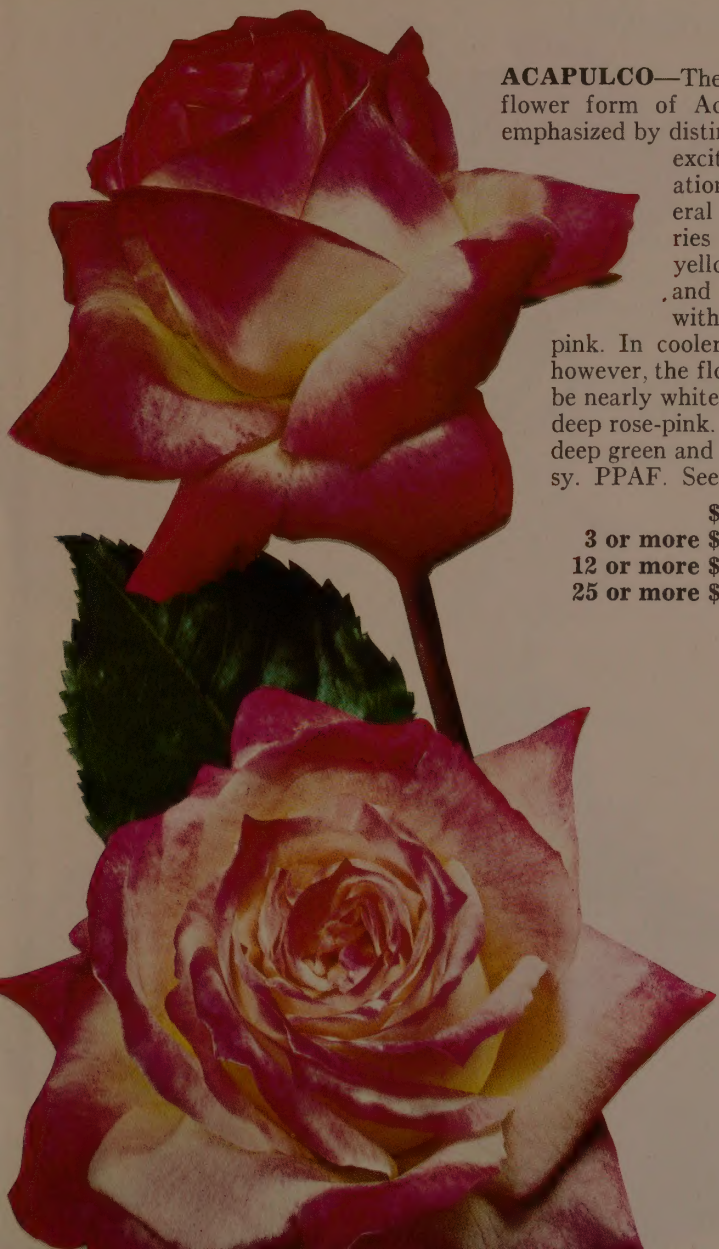

Edgar H. Wuest
52 Laurel Street
Woodbury, N. J.

"I'd like to say a word about Memoriam. I ordered three from you which were received early this last spring and, without a doubt, it is the most sensational rose I have grown or seen during the short period of six years in which I have been growing roses. I now have 305 bushes, including quite a large number of Old Fashion Roses and, while I will make some replacements this fall, in all probability I will end up with at least 325 bushes this year. I am most happy with Memoriam. It performs in a most outstanding manner in my garden and considering the enormous size of the blooms which are on erect canes, the bushes are most generous. There is nothing that can touch it in bud form. It takes several days to open and when in full bloom form, does not shatter. It is truly a gorgeous rose, and I know that you are proud of this wonderful achievement."

With sincere good wishes for your continued success, I am

Cordially yours,

E. L. Burgen
